

Sealmatic Shines At RoTIC Symposium 2025 In Dubai, UAE

Sealmatic, together with SealTech LLC, proudly participated in the RoTIC Symposium 2025, held in Dubai, UAE. RoTIC exhibition is regarded as the Middle East's most prominent event dedicated to Rotating Machinery Technology, the symposium brings together global leaders, rotary equipment manufacturers and technology experts to explore innovations and build collaborations that are shaping the future of the energy industry.

The RoTIC Symposium has become the premier meeting ground for stakeholders in the oil & gas, petrochemical and energy sectors. The event offers a unique blend of an international exhibition and a technical conference, providing a platform to highlight new technologies, share knowledge and address critical challenges. The focus was strongly aligned with global priorities, particularly on efficiency, sustainability and reliability, as industries across the world work toward long-term energy transition goals.

For Sealmatic, this exhibition held exceptional significance. Beyond showcasing its advanced range of mechanical seals, the event served as a launchpad to generate greater awareness about SealTech LLC, the newly established service center in Abu Dhabi dedicated to serving the Middle East market.

Sealmatic has further deepened its footprint in the middle east region and is now strategically positioned to deliver world-class sealing solutions and after-sales support to key industry leaders.

Sealmatic booth stood out for its prime location, impactful design and wide display of mechanical seals, which attracted continuous engagement from visitors. The interactions led to meaningful discussions on technology, service capabilities and future collaborations.
